Thanks David: This has been a real safety concern. Good to know an agreement has been reached.

Aaron: Please forward to our other board members. The article states: "the team would also pay for other city workers whose services are incurred at football games, such as firefighters and trash collectors." I wondered if that can be interpreted as potential compensation for our Clean Team, or to pay for supplies such as trash bags? The cost for services was a hot topic of discussion at our meeting yesterday. Would the additional expenses the Fig BID incurs for Rams home games be worth pursuing with the Team owner/City?

Thank you,

Let's start with the council office first.

Working directly with Rams is option 2.

I think we need to have the Council Office be the liaison between the Rams and the BID. If they can't then maybe Anna can or we can look into doing. The only person I currently know with the Rams is Joanna Hunter, who handles corporate communications and she can be reached at jhunter@rams.nfl.com to start.

Someone from the city and/or the Rams would have to acknowledge that the BID is a recognized quasi city organization that will supply additional cleaning crews and trash removal during Rams games and then be reimbursed for its services.
